Final Exam: Question 4

Back to the Question

Correct Option

- A users collection with an extended reference to a restaurants document.

Because the main focus of the queries are the users, we must have a collection for them.

And because of GDPR, it is easy to delete a user with all the information about it. If the user information was also located in the restaurant document, we would have to also search for this information and delete it.

The Extended Reference to the restaurant also allows our application to know the restaurant name without having to do an additional query when we look at a user.

Incorrect Options

- Only a restaurants collection in which all user information is embedded.
- Only a users collection in which all restaurant information is embedded.
- A restaurants collection with references to users documents.
